Benchkote and Beta-sorb

Both these quality products have high wet strength and are made with absorbent white paper coated on one side with an impermeable layer of Polythene. They offer disposable protection against spills on worktops of solvents, poisons, biohazards and radioactive chemicals. They can be treated with disinfectant to protect benches where pathogenic or dangerous bacteria are present. Can also be used purely as a high contrast cushioning surface for ordinary benches. Beta-sorb has an absorbency twice that of Benchkote and also is lower in price. It represents excellent value for money.
